

The White Lotus

Comedic One-Sheet

General Use One / Two-Liners

- The show is called The White Lotus and the creator is Mike White. I guess he felt “The Mike Lotus” was too on-the-nose.
- Viewers noted that season three is darker than the first two. But it also features a character giving his own brother a handjob, so there’s at least one happy ending.
- Mike White says The White Lotus is his dream gig because he can “burn down the house” at the end of every season. Same way they run the New York Jets.
- Since the show premiered, Mike White has appeared on Survivor twice, proving that after working with Hollywood actors, eating bugs on a beach counts as vacation.
- Season four is reportedly set in France. It’s titled, The White Lotus: Oops! All Mimes.
- Season three spawned a meme when a character in a Duke t-shirt put a gun to his head. The university complained, saying “Everyone knows Duke grads wear polos.”
- Mike White made the show as a COVID project and got a global hit. My COVID project was a sourdough starter that triggered my carbon monoxide detector.
- This show succeeding in the Trump Era makes sense. Characters on The White Lotus absolutely voted for The White Potus.
- Extra security was needed on set since season three featured K-pop star Lisa. Trespassers were beaten black and pink.
- The White Lotus was developed to be shot during the pandemic. Also shot during the pandemic: ivermectin

Intros / Transitions

- Today we’re talking about The White Lotus, the show that always begins with the discovery of a dead body. Great way to start a show, terrible way to start a birthday party.
- And we’re back to our discussion of The White Lotus, the show whose characters make Cruella deVile look down to earth.
- Welcome back. We were talking about The White Lotus, the show that’s gotten so many Emmy nods its neck must be tired.
- We’re discussing The White Lotus, the hotel with so many attractive guests that you check in just to check people out.
- We’re back. We were talking about The White Lotus, a show with a cast more star-studded than an astronomer’s broken leg.